

New Digital Fixed Speed Cameras to be put on A3400 Stratford Road in Hockley Heath.

As part of a wider initiative, Hockley Heath is to see the installation of a new digital fixed speed camera. This will capture the average speed of drivers as they pass through the village. Over the past years the village has been subjected to high speed vehicles passing through the village causing disruption and danger. Hockley Heath Parish Council hope that the cameras will make drivers more aware that they are passing through a rural village with pedestrian crossings and many side roads leading to residential areas.

The cameras are due to be installed summer 2016 for up to 2 years. They will be closely monitored and speeding tickets will be issued.
